ABOUT GEETHAMS

Geetham, the simplest music form in Carnatic music, was created by Purandara Dasa in order to introduce talas with sahithya (lyrics).

Structure

Though Geethams have no absolutely defined divisions of pallavi, anupallavi or charanas, they may be observed in some cases. Some Geethams contain sections rather than the defined divisions (pallavi etc.). They often have no sangathis or variations, with each swara taking one syllable of the sahithya. The Geetham is sung without repetition from beginning to end. However, most geethams end by repeating a portion of the beginning. Geethams are set in medium tempo and contain no Sangathis or variations and the flow of the music is natural. The theme of the Sahithyam (lyrics) is to praise God. Students learn these geetas after a course in the preliminary Sarali exercises and Alankaras.

Facts about all Geethams

1. A simple melody song
2. Same tempo throughout the song
3. There is no anga change
4. No repetition
5. No sangathi
6. We learn this after beginner lessons
7. Usually sang about god
8. Geetham means song
9. Geethams usually have 10/12 avarthanams

Types

There are three types of Geetas: Sadharana or Sanchari or Samanya or Lakshya Geethas, Lakshana Geethas, and Suladi Geethas. Samanya Geethams are the simple ordinary Geethams and are called by other names such as Sadharana Geetham or Sanchari Geetham. In Lakshana Geethams, the sahithyam (lyrics), instead of praising God, enumerates in so many words, the Lakshana of the Raga, in which it is composed-giving amongst other details, its Vakra Swaras, Graha, Nysa, Amsa Swarams and lastly its parent Raga (Melakarta raga). Most Lakshana Geethams have been composed by Purandara Dasa.

Lakshya Geethas:

- 1. Pillari Geethas: Geethas written in praise of God like Vigneswara, Mahesara, Mahavishnu etc are called Pillari Geetha. Ex: Sri Gananadha in Malahari Ragam, Rupaka Thalam.
- 2. Gana Raga Geethas: Geethas written in Gana Ragas like Nata, Gowla, Arabi, Sri Ragam, and Varaali are called Gana Raga Geethas. Ex: Re Re SriRama in Arabi Ragam, Tripuda Thalam.
- 3. Rakthi Raga Geethas: Geethas set to Rakthi ragas like Mohana and Kalyani are called Rakthi Raga Geethas. Ex: Vara Veena in Mohana Ragam. Rupaka Thalam.
- 4. Raga Malika Geetha: In a same geetha, if more than one raga is used, it's called Raga Malika Geetha. These types of Geethas are not in use today.

Notable composers who wrote Geethas:

- Purandara Dasa
- Paidala Gurumurthy Sastry
- Govindhacharya
- Venkata Makhi
- Rama Mathya

Types of Geethas:

Pillari Geethas:

- 1) Sree Gananatha
- 2) Kunda Gowra
- 3) Kereya Neeranu
- 4) Padumanaabhaa
- 5) Bhayasamaya
- 6) Aanalekara

Sadharana or Sanchari Geethas:

- 1) Janakasutha
- 2) Sree Rama Chandra
- 3) Kamalasulochana
- 4) Varaveena
- 5) Mandaradhaare
- 6) Govindachyutha
- 7) Saraswathi
- 8) Kamalajadala

Ghanaraaga Panchaka Geethas:

- 1) Amaree Kabaree
- 2) Sree Rama Chandra
- 3) Re Re Sri Rama
- 4) Meenakshi Jaya
- 5) Vande Madhavam

Lakshana Geethas:

- 1) Jayakarunaa Sindho
- 2) Kamsaasura Khandana
- 3) Aarabhiraaga Lakshanam
- 4) Gaanavidyaa Durandara
- 5) Shree Himachala Suthe

Lakshya Geethas:

- 1) Paahi Sri Ramachandra

- 2) Paalayanaageswara
- 3) Bhuvanatraya Mohana
- 4) Jaanakiramana Te Namu

Note Swaras:

- 2) Vaani veenaa pustaka paani
- 3) Harihara vinuta

Information regarding interpretation of notation:

There are seven basic swaras, known as Saptha Swaras.

They are represented in notation as –

1. Shadjam (shortly - S)
2. Rishabham (R)
3. Ghandaram (G)
4. Madhyamam (M)
5. Panchamam (P)
6. Dhaivatham (D)
7. Nishadham (N)

Dwadasa Swarasthanas:

Out of the seven swaras, Shadjam (Sa) and Panchamam (Pa) are constant. They are called Achala Swaras. The remaining five swaras admit varieties and they are called Chala Swaras. In combination, both Achala and Chala swaras yield 12 different musical notes and they are called Dwadhasa Swarasthanas.

The Dwadasa Swarasthanas represented in the notations are as below –

1. Shadjam	S
2. Suddha Rishabam	R1
3. Chatusruthi Rishabam	R2
4. Sadharana Gandharam	G1
5. Anthara Gandharam	G2
6. Suddha Madhyamam	M1
7. Prathi Madhyamam	M2
8. Panchamam	P
9. Suddha Dhaivatham	D1
10. Chatusruthi Dhaivatham	D2
11. Kaisiki Nishadham	N1
12. Kakali Nishadham	N2

Arohana – Series of Swaras in the ascending order of pitch.

Avarohana – Series of swaras in the descending order of pitch.

Sthayi – A series of swaras, beginning with Sa and ending with Ni, is called Sthayi.

There are Five Sthayis. These are represented in notations as below.

1. Anumandra Sthayi - not used
2. Mandra Sthayi - a swaram with a dot underneath like Ṗ
3. Madhya Sthayi - no dot specified
4. Tara Sthayi – a swaram with a dot above like Ṡ
5. Ati-Tara Sthayi – not used

The below table provide an idea to interpret lyrics provided. The below one is in comparison with Telugu alphabets however, there are a lot of open sources available to convert the lyrics to any language of interest.

Meaning:

In this geetham Sri Purandara dasu compares the life of human with the leakage of water from a pot.

I wasted much of the time in my life by not listening or not having awareness to great descriptions of ancient texts and scriptures the same way as we watch water gets away from the outlet under the pot. Going forward I will fill my hearts with you, the Sarvaantaryami and keep it pure.

Word to word meaning:

Talam: Chathurasra Jathi Dhruva

Composer: Paidala Gurumurthy Sastry

Meaning:

You have eyes like the fish. May there be auspiciousness. You have eyes which fulfill the desires of devotees. Your eyes are enchanting. You are the best among the matchless. Your speech accompanies omkar and it is very sweetly decorated.

You have fearful long hands capable of killing the war-loving madhu and kaitaba. You are the mother of elephant-faced vinayaka and Subramanya. May there be auspiciousness. Kathyayini, hey kali! rudhra priya! You have sweet voice like that of veena. Your nails shine like the lightning in your body which looks like clouds.

You are the mistress of Lord Sokkanatha, who stay in Madurapuri.

Meaning:

O sweetest one who respects Goddess Parvati's husband. Krishna! I praise you. You have eyes as bright as lotus. You are simply modesty in appearance, the one who grants boons to entire world. You are so auspicious among all kings, you destroyed demon's like madhu. You made Goddess Lakshmi happy by letting her reside at your heart. You wore everlasting ornaments having the shape of serpent. You pursued the greatest degree of virtues. You rest on Serpent, release me from attachments and emotions and give salvation.

O sweetest (mAdhava) who respects (mAnIta) Goddess Parvati's (uma) husband (dhavam). Krishna (mAdhavaM) I praise you (vandE). You have eyes as bright (lOchanaM) as lotus (pankaja), release (mOchanaM) me from attachments (bandha) and emotions (bhava). You appear in such a way that you wore cloud (neerabha) as clothes (vasanaM), you are the one who can bless with the one (eka) of many boons (daayinaM) i.e., moksha to entire world (nikhila). You are so auspicious (like maNi) among all rAjas (rAja kunDalaM), You destroyed (khanDanaM) demon's (daitya) like madhu. You made Goddess Lakshmi (indira) happy (ullAsa) by letting her reside at your heart (vaksha). You wore everlasting (nava) ornaments (kunDalaM) having the shape of serpent (nAga). You pursued (manDalaM) the greatest degree (Arya) of virtues (guNa). You rest on Serpent, and give (dAyinaM) salvation (mOksha) to your devotees (ASrita).

Meaning:

O victorious Lord Vishnu! You are an ocean of mercy. Your lotus like feet is incomparable. You are husband of Lordess Lakshmi, I meditate to your feet which care and satisfy the devotee's wishes.

This raagam dhanyaasi is a kind which is pleasant to hear and sing. This is derived from 8th MeLakarta raga Hanumattodi with 5 swaras while ascending, abandoned 2 swaras 'R', 'D' and all swaras while descending. The swaras 'G' and 'D' (gadha) sound splendidly in this raga. This raga is played in all the stayi levels and bears different pleasures of sound. This is one of great gurumoorthy's writings.

Meaning:

The one who killed demon kamsa, the one who killed mura, The one who steal gOpeekaa's heart like the way you steal butter. You are brilliant among yaadavaas. You are so merciful. You destroyed narakaasura. You love playing flute and being playful with rukmiNi and satyabhamaa. You save sages, Lord Krishna, victory to you.

This is Sahnaa raga, derived from HarikaambhOji. It has trembling movements of swara 'ga', long staging swara 'ma', the swara 'da' which parks next to sudda daivata, the swara 'ni' nears to daivata. Playing the swaras gives pleasure to listen smooth movements between them. This is propitiated raga to even play zig-zag movement with all swaras. O Lord Krishna, listen to this subject oriented raga. With your kindness provide us victory.

The flavour (lakshaNaM) of ragam (rAga) Arabhi is defined with its structure(vachmi).

In ascendent (ArOhE) order notes 'ga' and 'ni' are absent (gAndhAra nishAda rahitam) and in descendent (avarOhE) order all seven swaras are present (pUrNaM) hence auDava saMpUrNaM (5-7). It is derived from parent (janyaM) ragam SaMkarAbharaNa. While doing alapana (tAnaM) the support of notes 'da' & 'ni' phrase can be used as nyasa (tEshu dhaivata nishAdasahitaM nyAsaM). O fortunated people (saMto), listen (Akalayantu) to the ragam by name (nAmakam) Arabhi,

In all Sastras and puranas (sarvataM trEshu) this raga is significant (kuSalAvAdi) to sing (gAnavEttArO). This geetam has significant notes (saMvAdyanuvAdi vivAdikalita) to emphasize the raga bhava which composed (virachitamimaM) by paidala gurmurti (paiDALAnvayAlankAra gurumUrti) versed with scientific knowledge of raga (SAstrajna).

Meaning:

In this gItam Sri Paidalagurumoorti satri has explained the greatness of his guru Venkata subbayya.

Sri Venkata subbayya who belongs to chinakota dynasty is a well known guru in sangeetam. You have blessed your disciples with the sagacious ability of writing gIta epic. You are the one who led auspicious life with such disciples. The swara raga that had taken birth from you had a proven visibility of difference in swara vibrance. Victory for you!

This geetam is composed by Paidalagurumoorti sasti of paidala vamsa who is expert in geeta sastra; it has the structure of seven swara ascendent and descendent notes, suitable for singing in all the 3 levels, and suitable with 4 Vedic languages with no restriction. I benidict this geetam to you and wish us with happiness.

Talam: Matya Taalam

Composer: Shree Paidaala Guru Moorthi Sasthri

Meaning:

O Ruler Nageswara, you are protector of vandis and budhas. We praise your feet which fullfils our wishes. I sing your greatness with the transformation of music. You have moon decorated on your head. You glitter with the tone as you wore serpent as ornaments. You have crystal body, have music as ocean. You are splendid having raga as waves. If we compare the life as a boat, you have swaras as ladder, sruti as curtain; you shine by building the above qualities of sound as periphery. O wellwisher, give us happiness.

You have moon (chandrakaLA) decorated on your head (avataMsa). You glitter (rAjita) with the tone (rAga) as you wore serpent (nAga) as ornaments (abhUsha). You have a pure crystal (Sudda spaTika) body (dEha), have music (gAna) as ocean (samudra). You are splendid having raga as waves (vIchi). If we compare the life as a boat, you have swaras as ladder (sOpAna), sruti as curtain (vAtayana); you shine (vilasita) by building the above qualities of sound (nAda) as periphery (prAsAda). O wellwisher (SaMbho), give (dEhi) us happiness (mudaM).
